My family moved to Lodi from Modesto in 1960. My father, Jerry Mann, was a well-known Lodi pharmacist and drugstore owner in Downtown Lodi..

I attended Lodi grammar schools and graduated from Lodi Union High School in 1969. That same year I earned a broadcast engineer's license. I graduated from Delta College with an A.A. degree in business administration. My bachelor's degree is in business management.

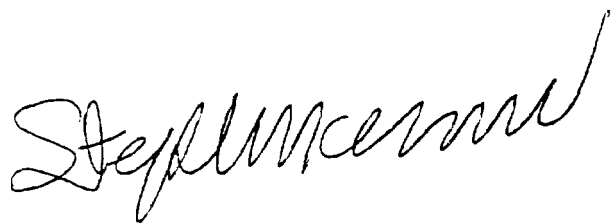

I have been an independent businessperson in Lodi for almost 30 years, having founded and published the "Lodi Life and Times" newspaper. As owner of Delta Publishing Company, I have published seven Lodi history books, including the "Remember When" series. I also work as a database administrator in Stockton.

My wife Jill and I have two daughters, Katy and Kelly. We are 22-year members of Temple Baptist Church in Lodi.

My roots and my future are in Lodi, which is why I will continue to commit my time, effort and money to this city.

My priorities are public safety, more good jobs, careful growth, and a balanced budget.

Thank you for your vote.
